MCGILL®

1905

In 1905 the McGill® CAMROL® cam-follower bearing was patented, which today is offered in more than 1,400 different combinations and configurations. McGill products also include aerospace bearings, needle and spherical bearings.

ROLLWAY®

1908

Introduced in 1908, Rollway® bearings are available in over 7000 different types of ball and roller bearings, from small to very large sizes. These bearings can be used in various industries such as oil and gas, mining, agriculture, and applications like pavers, harbour cranes, gearboxes, steel mills and many more.

SEALMASTER®

1935

Since 1935, Sealmaster® bearings are the industry's preferred bearing product, known for its premium-quality mounted ball-bearing line, as well as its mounted roller bearings.
